Best Practices for Official Voter Guides

What are the Best Practices for Creating Voter Guides?

Webinar 1
Live webcast: Monday, April 27, 2015

Jennifer Pae and Melissa Breach, League of Women Voters of California Education Fund
Drew Davies, Oxide Design Co.
Whitney Quesenbery, Center for Civic Design
Welcome

Introduction of Trainers

To better serve California’s diverse voters, voter information must be more accessible in design and delivery.

- Aim to make voter information more effective and inviting.
- Provide trainings, webinars, and other technical assistance in implementing recommendations.
- Identify impediments to adopt best practices including regulatory, legislative, and financial barriers.
"To raise voter confidence and increase participation, we must learn how voters get information and how to implement best practices for voter guides."

In today's webinar...

How we conducted the research behind the best practices
   - California voter guides today
   - Research with voters

Top recommendations and insights
   - Civic literacy
   - Layout and visual presentation,
   - Plain language

Resources for developing voter guides
   - The Best Practices Manual
   - Checklist of questions to ask
   - And more
California Voter Guides

Analysis of voter guides from all 58 counties and the state for the June 2014 primary
How we analyzed the voter guides

Documented 60 features or information
- What are the common elements?
- What is most often left out?

We found room for improvement
- Both consistency for many elements of the guides, and wide variability.
- Few elements were included in every county guide.
- Potentially important information was missing from some or most of the guides.
Most answered the top questions

There were some surprising gaps

Up to a third of the guides were missing information such as:

- Accessibility options for voters with disabilities
- Address of the polling place (or how to find it)
- Deadlines for voting by mail
- In-language support at the polls
The guides that answered the most questions

Generally larger, more affluent counties, possibly because they have more resources

- San Mateo
- Santa Barbara
- Santa Clara
- San Bernadino
- Placer
- Siskiyou (most complete small county)
How can we improve voter guides?

Close the gaps with best practices to:

- Make the guides more consistent
- Make information easier to find and read
- Support new and infrequent voters better

The analysis report and the collection of voter guides is online: http://civicdesign.org/projects/how-voters-get-information/
About the research

How we developed the recommendations for the best practices manual
Qualitative research

1 year
14 locations
38+ partners
58 counties
100 research participants
- Voters, non voters, infrequent voters
- Young, new citizens, low literacy, people with disabilities, language minorities
- Close match to California demographics
Research process

1. Stakeholder input
   Election officials, advocates, good government groups

2. Landscape analysis
   Sample of guides from across the state
   Collected guides from all 58 counties

3. Research with voters and non-voters
   - 53 people: sources and formats for information
   - 45 people: finding information in a prototype guide

The right to vote should be honored.
I vote when I have an opinion.
Voting is the right thing to do.
I guess I'll vote...if I get to it.

No one in my family votes.
California voter guides are long

- The size of the guides roughly correlated to the size of the county.

- Reading them can feel like an overwhelming task.

- Think about the "20-second test"
Top recommendations

The top insights about how voter guides can support voters more effectively
Three big insights

- Civic literacy is a huge challenge
- Layout and visual presentation are important for comprehension
- Plain language can't be overemphasized
Top recommendations

- Organize voter guides to help voters find their way to the information they need
- Present information so it is easy to recognize and identify
- Write information so it is easy to read and understand
- Personalize information for voters appropriately
- Close civic literacy gaps through structure and content
Key communication tactics

- Create culturally specific graphic illustrations of the voting process.
- Teach how to prepare to vote, including how to sort our conflicting opinions and how to use the sample ballot.
- Highlight ways in which accessible voting options, in addition to language access can help others vote effectively.
- Connect the impact of measures to specific communities.
- Make connections to community values.
The three insights

Civic literacy
Layout and design
Plain language
Civic literacy is a big challenge

Elections are not intuitive, so voter guides have to bridge knowledge gaps.

New and infrequent voters don't know where to start.
Voters – especially new voters – want

Information that will help them:

- Understand their choices about how, when, and where to vote
- Learn about what is on the ballot for each election, so they can make decisions
- Identify non-partisan official information they can trust
Layout and design

Voters want a roadmap to the booklet...and the elections process.

They liked pages that used visual layout effectively and were easy to scan.
The top five pages in current guides

- Use layout and design to communicate the type of content on a page
- Make it easy to differentiate types of pages
Plain languages

The importance of plain language to bridge the civic literacy gap cannot be overstated.
Election terms are confusing

The Voter Bill of Rights was valuable but hard to read

Voter Bill of Rights – recommended language

You have a right to…

- cast a ballot if you are a registered voter. You can register to vote if you are

  - a U.S. citizen
  - at least 18 years old
  - have been living in the state for 10 days
  - not in prison or on parole
  - registered to vote where you currently live.

- vote on a provisional ballot if your name is not on the list of registered voters.

- vote if you are in line when the polls close.

- cast a secret ballot without anyone bothering you or telling you how to vote.

- get a new ballot if you have made a mistake as long as you still have your old ballot. If you are at a polling place, ask an election official for a new ballot. If you vote by mail, you must give your original ballot to an election official before the polls close on Election Day before you can ask for a new ballot.

- get help voting and casting your ballot.

- turn in your completed vote-by-mail ballot at any polling place in the county where you are registered to vote.

- get election materials in a language other than English if enough people in your voting precinct need a ballot in that language.

- ask questions about election procedures and watch the election process. You can ask questions of election officials about procedures. The person you ask must answer your questions or send you to the right person for an answer. Please don't ask questions while election officers are busy working.

- report anything happening in the polling place that is a crime or if you believe someone is not who they say they are.

If you believe you have been denied any of these rights, or see something that might be a crime, call the Secretary of State's confidential toll-free Voter Hotline at (800) 345-8683.

Voter Bill of Rights – current language

1. You have the right to cast a ballot if you are a valid registered voter. A valid registered voter means a United States citizen who is a resident in this state, who is at least 18 years of age and not in prison or on parole for conviction of a felony, and who is registered to vote at his or her current residence address.

2. You have the right to cast a provisional ballot if your name is not listed on the voting rolls.

3. You have the right to cast a ballot if you are present and in line at the polling place prior to the close of the polls.

4. You have the right to cast a secret ballot free from intimidation.

5. You have the right to receive a new ballot if, prior to casting your ballot, you believe you made a mistake. If at any time before you finally cast your ballot, you feel you have made a mistake, you have the right to exchange the spoiled ballot for a new ballot. Vote-by-mail voters may also request and receive a new ballot if they return their spoiled ballot to an election official prior to the closing of the polls on Election Day.

6. You have the right to receive assistance in casting your ballot, if you are unable to vote without assistance.

7. You have the right to return a completed vote-by-mail ballot to any precinct in the county.

8. You have the right to election materials in another language, if there are sufficient residents in your precinct to warrant production.

9. You have the right to ask questions about election procedures and observe the election process. You have the right to ask questions of the precinct board and elections officials regarding election procedures and to receive an answer or be directed to the appropriate official for an answer. However, if persistent questioning disrupts the execution of their duties, the board or election officials may discontinue responding to questions.

10. You have the right to report any illegal or fraudulent activity to a local elections official or to the Secretary of State’s office.

If you believe you have been denied any of these rights or you are aware of any election fraud or misconduct, please call the Secretary of State’s confidential toll-free Voter Hotline at (800) 345-8683.

Use the checklist

Ask yourself these questions when creating or revising your voter guide, so it has the answers voters need.

VOTER GUIDE RECOMMENDATION CHECKLIST

Use this checklist of our recommendations when creating or reviewing a voter guide.

Include the right information at the appropriate level of detail

☐ Is the information organized by activity or task?
☐ Does the cover page include the following information?
  • County name and seal (or other official insignia)
  • Name or type of election
  • Date of election day and times the polls are open
  • Polling place information
  • How to contact the election office
  • Languages offered
☐ Is it clear how the county and state guides are different and connected?
☐ Are the headings written as questions or active instructions?
☐ Are the plain language principles incorporated? This includes
  • Writing short sentences
  • Using short, simple, everyday words
  • Writing in active voice and writing in the positive
  • Keeping paragraphs short
  • Separating paragraphs by a space, so that each one stands out on the page
☐ Are there definitions and descriptions for election terms and processes?

Organize information in an easy-to-follow path

☐ Is there a table of contents?
☐ Are there questions, quasi-questions, or instructions as headings?
☐ Does each page have a clear topic?
☐ Are there visual elements to make each section easy to see?
☐ Is the voter information organized to include both an overview and details?
